SANTA ARRIVES. Santa Claus receives a warm welcome to Granite City Saturday morning on the parking of the First Granite City National Bank. Although delayed by snowstorms and mechanical problems with the helicopter that was to have brought him to the waiting crowd, hundreds of children and their parents waited for his arrival. He made the last leg of his journey from the North Pole via a Granite City police car. He arrived later that afternoon at the First National Bank in Madison by helicopter, where he was met by hundreds more children.

Mr. Crouch was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center and immediately transferred to Pirmin Desloge Hospital in St. Louis, where he died at 6:10 a.m. Saturday.

Johnson zoning snag

A Madison County judge has ruled that Granite City's Zoning Ordinance restricting commercial businesses is invalid for one piece of property on Johnson Road. The city council has voted to appeal the court decision.

ASSOCIATE JUDGE Clayton R. Williams has ruled that the property at 2133 Johnson Road may be used for any commercial purpose the owners decide. The property is restricted to residential use, according to the city's two-year-old zoning law.

The judge's decision came as a result of a complaint filed by the owners, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Jones. The Joneses had been unsuccessful when they sought a zoning change on the property in October 1981, shortly after the city approved the new zoning law.

Earlier this year, the Joneses again appealed to the city for a zoning change to operate their telephone communications business on the property, but were turned down by both the Plan Commission and the city council.

JUDGE WILLIAMS' ruling now opens the property to any use permitted in a commercial district, although the Jones' request to the Plan Commission had been for the most restrictive commercial zone in the new zoning law.

Johnson Road has been the site of continuing disputes concerning the rights of its residential versus commercial property owners. City officials had hoped the new zoning ordinance would draw a final battle line between the two factions.

When the new law was approved, the Plan Commission had cited as one of its goals to relieve strip zoning, particularly on Madison Avenue, Pontoon and Johnson roads. City officials had lost previously-contested zoning cases in those areas and had hoped a new zoning ordinance, strictly enforced, would prevent the county court from overturning the city's zoning rulings. Assistant City Attorney Irvin Slate, who defended the city in the Jones case, wrote a letter to the council that stated the decision could seriously undermine the efforts of the zoning law.

SLATE AGREED that there are commercial businesses near the Jones' property, including the Pad-dlers' Swim Club, but that the businesses were there before the new zoning law was approved.

Judge Williams ruled the best use of Jones' property is commercial, since Johnson Road is a heavily-traveled street with several other commercial properties.

"The ordinance in question as applied to the property in question is arbitrary and unreasonable and has no substantial relation to the public health, safety, morals or welfare," Judge Williams wrote in his decision.

Woman is held in stabbing

Bart Bell, 25-year-old resident of 903 Bissell Ave., Madison, was stabbed to death at 9:20 p.m. Wednesday. The stabbing occurred at in the Viola Jones Homes at the apartment of a 22-year-old woman friend of Mr. Bell's. She has been jailed pending an investigation.

Venice police were called to the scene on a report of two subjects fighting. Upon entering the apartment, the reporting officer observed Mr. Bell's friend bending over him. He was lying on his back in the living room. She was holding a gold-colored towel over his upper chest.

Police observed what appeared to be a stab wound. Upon closer observation, an officer noticed that Mr. Bell was not breathing.

The Venice Fire Department rescue squad and Campbell Ambulance Service were called and it was determined that Mr. Bell was without signs of life. He was pronounced dead at 10:05 p.m. Wednesday by Madison County Deputy Coroner Ed Besserman.

Mr. Bell's friend admitted to an officer that she had stabbed Mr. Bell. She stated she was tired of him "messing with her" (referring to previous battery reports) and stated she had put the knife in the upstairs bathroom.

Upon investigation, a butcher knife was found upstairs lying behind the faucet of the sink. According to Venice officials, it allegedly had what appeared to be blood on the blade of the knife. It was collected by Venice police and tagged as evidence.

When Mr. Bell's body was removed from the floor, police found a closed pocket knife under the body.

Also collected from the apartment was a one pint whiskey bottle that was open.

Mr. Bell's woman friend was taken into custody by Venice police, but she had not yet been charged with anything, pending investigation.

David Partney advances to position of power, prestige

By BILL WINTER of the Press-Record

"And she believes in me..." The words of the song might well have been voiced by David E. Partney, 39, who was elected this month as president of the Board of Education of Granite City Community Unit School District Nine.

HIS WIFE, Janet, sees characteristics of greatness in him, and so do many other people. She has not hesitated over the years to tell Press-Record staff members that she feels newspapers too often accentuate the negative and minimize the positive regarding her husband.

Now, the top levels of local acclaim and responsibility have been attained. When the most important functions of the school system are taking place, he will be there with gavel or microphone in hand to lead, both visibly and intangibly.

THE BOARD meeting room was filled to overflowing Nov. 15 as he and others officially began new elections.

David Partney is receiving increasing attention, not only because of his rise to the board presidency, but also because of his hopes to reshape the school system, and because of his expanding political base.

He has sought to influence Namoki Township races and Granite City aldermanic campaigns and believes his success rate has been high.

KIDS for return favors have been gathered, and Partney has built considerable rapport with many precinct committeemen, once thought of as being closed to such well-known leaders as Nelson Hagnauer, Granite City Township supervisor, Madison County Board chairman and former county Democratic chairman.

A member of the Granite City School Board since being elected in April 1979, Partney ran Nov. 8 for a second board term. He not only earned another four years on the board but finished second among the 11 candidates for five positions, attracting 3,049 votes.

Newsman concede that negatives have been published. They add that, in many cases, the criticisms were voiced by persons who were responding to Partney's criticism of them.

HE SEEMS ABLE to tussle verbally with others and emerge unscathed while foes incur bruises.

Partney was one of the reasons why Robert Maxwell led all candidates in April 1980. They argued publicly at the final board meeting before the November 1983 election, in which Maxwell finished within 24 votes of last among six four-year candidates.

Cliches abound when one is discussing politics, but often they are appropriate. Partney understands, for example, that "if you live by the sword, you can die by the sword." If you enter the arena and wound others, they tend to wound back.

ANOTHER TRUTH is that you sometimes can and should retire from the field of battle in order to regain strength, fight again and, perhaps, emerge triumphant.

His initial try for the board in 1978 failed; his more recent efforts to change the school district's direction also had failed, until three board members lost their re-election bids this month.

Harmony prevailed this month. Partney advanced to the presidency in unanimous voting.

New members felt that an experienced member should lead the board, and also felt that voters had signaled their desire for another familiar phrase: "It's time for a change."

WHAT CHANGES are to be made are not yet known.

William Schooley may be hanging onto the school attorney job by only his fingernails. The board at its reorganization meeting retained him for 30 days, during which a decision is to be made for the remainder of the 1983-84 year.

President Partney was openly critical during the campaign of Assistant Superintendent Frank Kraus, Employee Relations Administrator Harold Hillmer and Niederhagen School Principal Harry Briggs Jr. He felt they were "wearing their hearts on their sleeves" a bit too obviously in the board campaign.

He is known to think the employee relations and personnel jobs could be merged, that an assistant superintendent may not be necessary, and that it might be best to hire a new superintendent from outside the local area when B.J. Davis is no longer the administrator.

Kraus and Hillmer plan to retire in 19 months. But the new president, fiercely loyal to friends, plays only one kind of political game — "hard ball." The upcoming months could be an awkward period for those visualized as enemies.

A TEMPERING influence is that some on the board want to "see for themselves." They favor seven-member rule, not one-member, and campaigns for Granite City mayor in 1977 and 1981.

Graduating from Granite City High School, David Partney was in business administration at Southern Illinois University.

NO STRANGER to public activities and leadership duties, he has served as president of both the Tri-Cities Area Red Cross Chapter and the Granite City Jaycees.

Active in Masonic Lodge 477, Ahad Shrine, Tri-City Shrine Club, Scottish Rite Bodies of Southern Illinois and the Low Twelve Club, he also has been a member of Granite City Moose Lodge 272 and Teamsters Local 525.

He has served as the construction division chairman in past Tri-Cities Area United Way fund drives.

Partney was vice-president of the Granite City Crippled Children's Association, a life member of the Order of DeMolay, and a board member of the Southern Illinois Industrial Association and the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce.

HE WAS CHAIRMAN of the Jaycee rodeo, a Granite City homecoming festival and the Chamber's sewer and drainage committee, which was active in securing rights-of-way for sanitary sewers in Nameoki Township and other unincorporated areas.

His memberships have included the Granite City Rotary Club, Society of Iron and Steel Engineers, Hospice of Madison County, Niederhagen and Maryville school PTA units, Sheet Metal Local 268 Apprenticeship Committee and the Granite City Humane Board.

THE U.S. ARMY veteran also is a coordinator of local municipal "wars," coordinating much of the staff work not help but be a new look to the school district.

Partney, an officer of Granite Sheet Metal Works, expects to devote much time to school matters.

HE PLANS DIRECT participation in spring 1984 contract talks with the certificated staff's negotiators and will be District Nine's delegate to the Illinois Large District Council.

He will be the alternate member on the board's policy committee, the board's budget and finance committee, and the Quad City special education board.

In addition to his work at Granite Sheet Metal, a major contractor and subcontractor, Partney also is the proprietor along with his wife of Strawberry Hill, an ice cream parlor. They reside at 2273 Shirline Drive, Nameoki Township, with their children, Douglas, David and Denise.

BORN HERE and a lifelong local resident, he is one of the sons of the late Mayor Donald Partney. Granite City's chief executive from 1965 to 1973.

David's older brother, Donald Jr., heads the family-owned company and once ran for the City Council.

His younger brother, Daniel, formerly served on the Madison County Board and waged strong campaigns for Granite City mayor in 1977 and 1981.

THE U.S. ARMY veteran also is a coordinator of local municipal "wars," coordinating much of the staff work for both successful and unsuccessful citywide campaigns.

Since joining the Board of Education, Partney ran unsuccessfully in 1981 for the position of Nameoki Township assessor and in 1982 for the District 23 post on the County Board. He was a candidate for state representative nominations in 1970 and 1974.

A fiscal watchdog on the school board, Partney during his first term often cast a dissenting vote on bill lists and treasurer reports. He frequently would say that "fat can be trimmed without hurting the educational process."

He, for some time, has advocated a smaller administrative staff. He feels strongly that the board should not have rescinded its 10 percent pay reduction for administrators this year.

AS A NEW board member, Partney watched utility bill lists for what he considered excessive expenditures. He often voted "no" on authorizing board members and administrators to attend out-of-town seminars and conferences.

However, he sometimes opposed accepting low bids on milk purchases.

The board president favors "running the schools like a business." In only reflect the complexities of life in 1983 and the many facets of political campaigning, in which favorable points are dramatized and less favorable issues are underplayed.

If knowledge is power, Partney may have become one of the most powerful persons in this community; his knowledge includes political contacts, promotional techniques and overall strategy. He reacts almost instinctively in defining and making use of issues.

ALTHOUGH there is general recognition that the school district campaign intricacies, what is not known is the ultimate impact of his know-how — how it will be utilized.

Winning sometimes relates to people as much as does adversity, and David Partney is ready for the new challenges and opportunities facing him.

He has experienced both good and bad times, wins and losses, and hopes to cap his rise to the current position of authority with constructive action.

If enough people believe in him, friends are convinced, a new era of progress may be on the horizon for Granite City schools.

HE SPOKE OUT against a meeting held this fall at which some of the board candidates made plans for raising campaign funds, but he has not hesitated to make substantial election expenditures for himself and others.

Asserting that three or four board members had been present along with three school administrators, two aldermen and a few others at the fund planning session, he asked that the county investigate and deter-the dissolving of the bi-state structure.

Martin G. Anderson, executive director of Comprehensive Health Planning in Southern Illinois, said that group serves Bond, Washington and Randolph.

He argued that moving such a rural area into a new urban health service jurisdiction would "disrupt and set back health planning and development."

Health service agencies are funded through the federal government and seek to standardize access to health care. They pass judgment on whether new equipment or facilities can be added by hospitals.

The state plan says, "The accelerated pace of hospital costs, expansions, competition for duplicative technology and current thinking and events regarding health planning at the federal, state and local levels bring into focus the need for a planning agency in the region being considered."

The U.S. provides 21 cents yearly for each person living within a health agency's boundaries, totaling perhaps $100,000 annually in this region.

David Porto, an administrator at St. Anthony's Hospital, Alton, said, "We need more than four counties to establish a good planning basis."

"I'm not in favor of including any specific counties, but an agency needs enough resources to accomplish its tasks."

ARREST MAN AFTER CALL

Cleith Archie Milan, 54, of 2150 Bryan Ave., was charged there last week with disorderly conduct for allegedly filing a false police report. The charge was lodged after an Illinois Bell telephone operator notified police of an alleged call from a man, who related two men had been shot. Milan was released after posting $102 cash bail.

Welfare needs clothing

By VALERIE EVENDEN
of the Press-Record

The Protestant Welfare Association is in urgent need of any type of winter clothing for infants, school-age youngsters and adults, as well as blankets and small household items, Norma Petty, office coordinator, reported this week.

The association, a United Way agency, maintains a clothing center at its headquarters, 2052 Edison Ave., with the help of public donations and assistance from persons involved in the Seeger Aids Program, sponsored by Belleville Area College.

Located on the second floor of the Protestant Welfare building, the center provides the primary resource for good used clothing, bedding and other items, which are available without cost to persons in need.

Most of those utilizing the service are referred to the center by other agencies, churches, schools and individuals, Mrs. Petty explained.

"We need any type of clothing, from infants and schoolage to men and women's sizes, especially winter coats," she said.

Also being sought for distribution to the needy are blankets, sheets, quilts and pillows, dishes and tableware, Mrs. Petty added.

Small household appliances likewise are needed, such as electric skillets, toasters and coffeepots.

"We deeply appreciate what has been donated already, but we are getting more requests each week for assistance and we can use additional items, especially the winter clothing," the supervisor said.

Helping to operate the center are Senior Aides Jess Brumagin and Rose Vivod, both of Granite City, and Arletha Lomax of Madison.

The center is open from 9 a.m. until noon and from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday. Pickup of donated items can be arranged by calling 876-8770 or 876-2383, with this service offered each Wednesday.

In addition to the clothing and household furnishings center, Protestant Welfare provides financial assistance to families in need.

The agency also participates in Project Help, a program operated by Church Women United and local labor organizations, which distributes food to unemployed workers in this area.

HELPING HAND. Senior Aide Jess Brumagin of Granite City stacks clothing at the Protestant Welfare Agency's clothing center, 2052 Edison Ave., prior to the arrival of more clients. Blankets and winter clothing for infants, schoolage youngsters and adults are needed. Persons wishing to donate items may call 876-8770 or 876-2383 for pickup service.

Spanish-speaking men arrested near tavern

At 5:25 p.m. Thursday, Venice police were called concerning two Spanish-speaking men armed with knives who were in Garrett Sluggers' Tavern, 337 Weaver Ave., Venice. When the officers arrived, the subjects had left, but were later located on Weaver Avenue.

When approached, one of the subjects, Rodolfo Alarcon, threw down an opened locking blade knife. Both Alarcon and the other man, Fernando Gonzales, were allegedly intoxicated and were said to not respond to English.

Alarcon was charged with unlawful use of a weapon and Gonzales was charged with disorderly conduct.

The immigration office was notified concerning the two and an agent spoke with both subjects. It was found that both subjects are Cuban and that they are in this country legally, police said.

Burglaries in Pontoon

Two burglaries were reported Wednesday and Thursday to Pontoon Beach police. Both burglaries involved the theft of more than $1,000 in personal belongings.

On Wednesday, Nov. 23, Pontoon Beach police responded to the Nancy Johnson residence, 4039 Kathy Drive, apt. 1, where intruders allegedly removed a microwave oven valued at $600, a Zenith color television set valued at $800, miscellaneous jewelry valued at $200, statuettes valued at $250 and other miscellaneous items.

The home was vacant between 4 p.m. and 11:50 p.m. Neighbors told police they heard people going up and down the steps of the home at approximately 9 p.m., but failed to investigate.

Upon investigation, police discovered pry marks on the molding of the back door, the speculated point of entry.

Another burglary, of the Joseph Utz residence at 4180 Breckenridge Lane, was reported to the Pontoon Beach Police Department on Thanksgiving Day.

Utz, who was away from his home from 11:15 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., told police that thieves removed $1,900 in belongings from his home.

Missing are a $300 guitar, a $1,400 amplifier, two microphones valued at $175 and a magnum rifle which the owner estimated to be worth $25.

GC COUPLE IS CHARGED

Police observed a automobile weaving along Niedringhaus Avenue at 2:50 a.m. Sunday, then the vehicle crossed the center line and swerved back to strike the curb at Delmar Avenue, it is alleged. Officers stopped the car and Judy Snyder, 25, of 2023 Dewey Ave., the driver, exited the auto and allegedly stumbled. She was arrested and charged with driving under the influence of alcohol, illegal transportation of alcohol and reckless driving.

Upon checking the interior of the vehicle, the police found four cans of beer in the front seat and also arrested a passenger, David Johnson, 26, of the 2000 block of Dewey Ave., on charges of illegal possession of alcohol. They allegedly found a package of cannabis cigarettes in his pocket while processing him at the station and also charged him with possession of cannabis.

GC Council Briefs

Recent Granite City Council actions and discussions included the following.

Cable TV

AN AMENDING ordinance to transfer the local cable TV franchise from the current owner, South-Western TV, Inc., to First Carolina Communications, Inc., was passed on first reading. The ordinance was preceded by an agreement made by the company not to raise basic rates for a year. The Granite City cable office and the firm's methods of operations are expected to remain unchanged.

Night Parking

A BAN on parking on city streets between 2 and 5 a.m. does not "recognize the proliferation of motor vehicles" in Granite City, according to an ordinance repealing the law. The repeal was placed on first reading. Attorney John Papa said the antiquated law was brought to his attention by Police Chief Ronald Velzer. "We better change it and change it fast," Second Ward Alderman Sam Whitmer, commented.

Maryville Road

ALSO PLACED on first reading was an eight-ton load limit on Maryville Road from Pontoon to Edwardsville roads. Sixth Ward Alderman Woodrow Moad said portions of walls in some homes in his ward have fallen due to heavy traffic along Maryville Road. The law will be voted on for final passage Dec. 6.

Other Traffic Laws

IN A DIVIDED 10-3 vote, aldermen approved an ordinance to prohibit motorist traveling east on Fehling Road from turning south on Nameoki Road, while the traffic signal at the intersection is on red. Aldermen suspended council rules to give final approval to the traffic law. Placed on first reading, was an ordinance banning truck tractor trailers from parking along city streets, except in those areas classified M-1, M-2, M-3 or M-4 industrial zoning districts. The law is intended to conform to the city's new Zoning Ordinance.

Emert Study

ALDERMAN WOODROW MOAD renewed his request for a traffic study to be conducted on EMERT AVENUE, which serves as a shortcut between Johnson and Maryville roads. City officials said such a study had been conducted about two or three years ago and an attempt to make it a one-way street had been defeated by a petition drive. The engineering department was asked to provide a copy of the past study to Moad.

Lawsuit

CITY OFFICIALS have been summoned to appear in Madison County Circuit Court Dec. 12, concerning a traffic accident involving a police officer. Ellen Huffaker is asking $6,150 plus court costs for damages apparently caused to her pick-up truck while Officer Michael Gagich was chasing another vehicle. The accident occurred June 17 near the intersection of 23rd Street and Madison Avenue.

Sewer Damage Claims

TWO DAMAGE claims from residents who blame broken city sanitary sewer lines for flooding in their homes have been referred to City Comptroller Joseph Miklovic for investigation. The comptroller's office handles insurance claims for the city. The action was spurred by a letter from Irene Mooshagian, 3108 Colgate Place, who wrote sewage had backed up into her home's basement for the fourth time on Nov. 10. The second claim was an earlier one submitted by Kenneth F. Spalding, 3317 Colgate Place. Spalding was among about 20 homeowners in Lueders Estates to have sewer water sprout through sinks, toilets and shower drains following heavy rains June 3 and 4. Mayor Paul Schuler said the two letters will remain in the comptroller's office until a final decision is reached on possible funds available for such reimbursements. City officials had previously indicated no funds would be available.

Conference will address new fertilizer techniques

Placing fertilizer in strips in fields, instead of broadcasting over the entire field, may increase the value of the fertilizer to plants, researchers say. But there still are questions about whether it's worth the extra expense.

Fertilizer placement, as this relatively new technique is called, will be among the topics discussed this month at the 16th annual Southern Illinois Fertilizer and Herbicide Conference in Mount Vernon. The conference, which will begin at 8 a.m. Tuesday, is designed for custom applicators, supply firms and others employed in marketing and using fertilizers and herbicides.

Edward C. Varva, agriculture fertilizer specialist with the Southern Illinois University-Carbondale School of Agriculture, will discuss fertilizer placement problems and potentials.

Donald J. Stucky, an agronomist at SIUC, will discuss results of his research this year with wheat swathing a technique for early harvest of wheat.

George Kapusta, SIUC professor of plant and soil science, will talk on low-volume herbicide spraying techniques.

Other talks will include tips for business managers.

The conference is sponsored by SIUC's Department of Plant and Soil Science and Division of Continuing Education in cooperation with Southern Illinois fertilizer and herbicide dealers and the Illinois Fertilizer and Chemical Association.

Additional information is available from Marie Malinauskas at SIUC's Division of Continuing Education 1-536-7751.

SPEEDING, DUI CHARGED

Edward D. Wortman, 29, Caseyville, was charged with speeding 61 miles per hour in a 25-mph zone in the 2700 block of Maryville Road at 5:25 p.m. Wednesday. Booked also for driving under the influence of alcohol and failing to advise the state of a change of address, he posted his driver license and $102 bail. His car was towed from the scene.

Many facets of vocational study in GC

Granite City schools always have been known for their comprehensive vocational program but the diversity of career courses is even greater than many citizens realize, members of the Citizens Advisory Council for Educational Services said.

One of a series of speakers at 1983-84 CAC meetings, Thomas C. Holloway, is the director of vocational and career education in School District Nine.

He related that "vocational education has changed drastically in the last 20 years."

"Many people feel that vocational education involves working in a shop building on a project, but today it is much more than that."

"We have programs that range from medical transcriptionists to machinists, from secretaries to cable television technicians."

"Some of our high school programs end with licenses from the State of Illinois. Categories of instruction include cosmetology, health occupations, radio-TV production and broadcasting technology, industrial trades, home economics, business education and cooperative education."

The latter includes such work as secretarial, clerical, typing, bookkeeping, accounting, retailing, fast food, restaurant, catering, child care, custodial, health and industrial.

Among Granite City's industrial courses are automotive, drafting, electricity, electronics, machine metals, machine shop, sheet metal, heating, air-conditioning, woods, building trades, metals, welding, graphic arts and principles of mechanics.

Health study includes medical occupations and terminology, hospital housekeeping, unit clerical, medical transcription and nurse assistant programs.

The spectrum of business classes includes various skill levels in typing, record keeping, stenography, business law, computer principles, business retailing, clerical training, secretarial training and distributive education (mathematics, typing, bookkeeping, computers and laws).

Among the aspects of home economics are child development and care, clothing construction, fashion merchandising, housing and decorating, home furnishing, home merchandising, basic food and nutrition, food technology, food service, personal and family living, consumer instruction and home management.

MAN FACES GUN CHARGE

Ronald McKinley, East St. Louis, was arrested at 2:40 a.m. Wednesday by Madison police and was charged with failure to have a firearm owner's identification card. McKinley was allegedly arguing with his wife while they were driving in the car and he threatened her with the gun, police were told. She said she stopped the car and the two were arguing in front of the Madison police station when they were approached by police. McKinley was released on a $100 cash bond.

Learning can be joyful for little thinkers, educators told

"We haven't helped our children realize the joy of learning," an educator who specializes in education for gifted children told school officials and administrators during this month in Chicago.

"Kids at all levels need to learn problem-solving skills and critical thinking. They need to learn to go after the facts instead of focusing on the facts themselves," Judy Lipschutz, director of the regional service center for gifted education in Matteson, said.

She was a member of one of more than 60 panels that discussed a wide range of topics at the joint annual conference of the Illinois Association of School Boards, Illinois Association of School Administrators and Illinois Association of School Business Officials.

Although her field is gifted children, she maintains that the approach appropriate to educating the precocious child is also the best way to instill a love of learning in the average and even the learning disabled child.

"The emphasis in gifted education has been to focus on the students' strengths, and this has important implications for general education. We need to let kids work at a pace that's appropriate to them," she said.

For example, she believes too often children who enter school already knowing how to read are forced to re-learn that skill—while others, who may not be ready to read until they are eight or nine years old, are pushed to learn faster. She asks, "Why push them—why force them to become 'learning disabled'?"

She's concerned about back-to-basics and minimum competency movements as well. "Minimum competencies tend to become maximum competencies, and this scares me," she said.

The nation has had "a love affair with compensatory education for the past ten years, and that's where the money goes," she said.

"The focus has become remediation rather than striving for the most and allowing students to move at a pace that is appropriate for them."

The heart of the problem, she said, lies not in the schools, but in society as a whole: "It's a cultural thing that has permeated education."

"As a society, we have not valued thinking—we have valued skills. What school officials and administrators can do is to think seeking as a valued part of culture, and then turn thinkers instead of little rote learners."

Congress approves amendment to keep small cities on UDAG list

Congress recently approved the Housing and Community Development Act of 1984, which included an amendment introduced by Senator Charles H. Percy, that will prevent Illinois communities with high unemployment from being dropped from the Department of Housing and Urban Development's (HUD) list of small cities eligible for Urban Development Action Grants (UDAGs). Because HUD recently updated its eligibility list with 1980 census data, 239 Illinois cities faced permanent loss of eligibility for the UDAG program.

"It's tremendous that Congress has decided to keep Illinois cities with high unemployment on HUD's small cities UDAG eligibility list," Percy said. "This will give them an opportunity to compete for these funds which are designed to spur economic development. It costs no more to keep them eligible and may even add to the competitive nature of the program."

Percy's amendment to the Housing and Community Development Act, which the president is expected to sign into law, will require HUD to take unemployment into account in determining eligible cities for UDAGs. Currently, HUD factors in the following: age of housing, poverty, population, economic growth and per capita income. According to HUD, if unemployment statistics stay the same, at least half of the 239 cities will remain on the small cities UDAG eligibility list.

"While I would have preferred to have all 239 cities remain on the list, I'm pleased that those cities with high unemployment, and need help the most, will be eligible for UDAGs," Percy said. "Congressional action has confirmed the purpose of the UDAG program."

In June 1983, Percy wrote HUD Secretary Samuel Pierce, asking that HUD regulate a change with unemployment. Secretary Pierce complied with Percy's request, however, the regulatory change was blocked in October by the Office of Management and Budget. Therefore, Percy pressed for the legislative change that Congress subsequently approved.

HUD awards UDAGs to cities in economic distress on a competitive basis to be used to create jobs by encouraging industries to expand or come to town. Cities receiving UDAGs lend their money to industries which then invest in job-creating projects and repay the city with interest. The city can then lend the money to other industries for additional job-creating projects.

Percy pointed out, the UDAGs have been "extremely effective" in Illinois. UDAGs have stimulated nearly $1 billion in new private investment and created 22,000 permanent jobs since 1978, according to Percy.

Crash linked to W. Pontoon barricades

Heavy rain caused flooding problems at five Granite City storm-water lift stations between 6 a.m. and 6:30 a.m. Sunday, and West Pontoon Road had to be closed off starting at 2:20 p.m. Sunday.

Granite City police were posted at the W. Pontoon intersection with Missouri Avenue and the railroad crossing near Nameoki Road to divert auto traffic Sunday afternoon as needed.

Barricades to prevent traffic from going through the deep water were set up at W. Pontoon and Missouri Avenue, near Illinois Route Three, and at the corner of W. Pontoon and Briarhaven Drive.

At the latter intersection, the east-bound auto of Kevin Mikulez, 18, of 3216 Rodger Ave. skidded when he applied the brakes at 9:35 p.m. Sunday.

The car successfully avoided barricades by maneuvering over them. But as it continued eastward, it collided with W. Pontoon Road curbing and the left front tire blew out.

State minimum wage will increase on Jan. 1, 1984

Under new Illinois law, the state's minimum wage increases from the current $2.30 per hour ($1.95 for those under 18) to $2.65 ($2.25 under 18) of Jan. 1, 1984. The rate later hikes to $3 ($2.55 under 18) on Oct. 1, 1984, and finally to $3.35 ($2.85 under 18) on July 1, 1985, matching the federal wage.

In addition, effective Jan. 1, 1984, the "tip credit" will be further cut to 45 percent of the minimum wage (currently 50 percent) and on July 1, 1984, the "tip credit" will be further cut to 40 percent of the minimum wage.

The overtime provision for restaurant and motion picture theater employees has been amended so that effective Jan. 1, 1984, overtime pay will be due after 43 hours are worked in a week (currently 46 hours). This threshold drops to 40 hours on July 1, 1984.

$25,000 loss in fire at residence

Fire at 6:45 p.m. Sunday ruined the remainder of the Thanksgiving weekend for the Clifford Wilkinson family at 3034 Circle Drive.

Starting at the rear of their one-story frame home, the blaze swept through most of the dwelling.

Preliminary estimates of damage totaled $25,000, including $15,000 to the building and $10,000 to its contents.

Granite City firefighters were at the scene for three hours. No injuries were reported.

It was not immediately apparent what started the fire. A study of the residence is planned today in an effort to determine the origin.

TWO SUSPECTS HELD IN ATTEMPTED ARMED ROBBERY

Two Venice men were being held today at the Granite City Police Department until an investigation involving the two in an alleged attempted armed robbery is completed.

According to police, a Granite City man was sitting in his car at 8:30 p.m. Saturday outside Gabriel's Store when the two men approached his vehicle and one asked what time it was and the second man stepped up to the car, told the man to roll his window down and produced a gun saying, "This is a hold-up."

The driver said he sat still for a couple of minutes, then put the car in reverse and backed away from the two men. As he drove away, he honked his horn to attract the attention of other shoppers and yelled for someone to stop the two men, who were at that time running north in the parking area of Crossroads Plaza.

Hearing the commotion, a man in the vicinity chased one of the subjects and, with the aid of the driver, they held him against the wall between Walgreen's Drug Store and Schuck's Store until the police arrived.

Another man stopped to help hold the suspect while his wife called the police. Upon their arrival, officers arrested the first suspect and found the second man locked in the men's restroom at Schuck's. Both were taken to the police station.

A pistol containing three spent rounds and an open knife with a three-inch blade were recovered by the police, who were told the subjects dropped the items in the chase.

Refunds continue to rise

SPRINGFIELD — State income tax refunds to individuals, which for years averaged about $40, rose to nearly $70 with last year's taxes and probably will increase another $10 or more next year, revenue department officials say.

Helen Adorjan, information officer for the department, said the state refunded $103.7 million to individuals for returns filed by last April 15, up by $40 million in the $154.7 million in individual refunds the previous year.

The average individual refund on '82 returns was $57.06, she said, reflecting the start of a trend toward higher individual refunds, largely because of a five percent "marriage penalty" deduction and the appearance of the delayed-tax individual Retirement Accounts. The individual refunds rose to $69.96 for '83 returns, as the "marriage penalty" deduction went from 5 percent to its final 10 percent, and increased investments in IRA's were reflected. The deductions reduced gross income totals on which the state income tax is figured.

For next year, revenue department officials expect refunds to rise an average of $10 or more, Adorjan said, because of new taxing procedures which will allow taxpayers to deduct property taxes they pay on their personal residences.

Though cash flow problems last year slowed refunds to businesses, which tend to get larger refund checks, most individual refunds went out on schedule, Adorjan said.

The overall refund picture was further confused this year, she said, by the one-time inclusion of unitary tax refunds which accounted for $68.5 million, in addition to $97.4 million in other business refunds.

Approximately 60 percent of individuals filing taxes by last April 15 received refunds, she said — 2,067,000 out of 4,587,000 individual returns.

Additional performances will be given at 8:15 p.m. on Friday and Saturday, Dec. 2 and 3, and 2 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 4. All performances will be presented in the Communications Building Theater.

DEFINED BY CRITICS as a prime example of the 1950's "Theater of the Absurd," "Endgame" presents four people attempting to establish meaningful relationships in the limbo of an undefined world.

Beckett, an Irish poet of the theater, is perhaps better known as the author of two other Absurdist plays, "Waiting for Godot" and "Kraut's Last Tape."

Cast principals are Sandra Ann Thomley (Clove), Greenup, Jeff Hoyer of Kearney, Neb., and Rebecca K. Williams of Belleville (alternating in the role of Hamm), Michael Tobias of St. Charles, Mo., and Rhett Rehg of St. Louis, Mo. (alternating in the role of Nagg), and Rosemarie Arendt of Stratford, Conn. and Marsha Fisher of Granite City (sharing the role of Nell).

Parking is free behind the theater building on nights of performance. Ticket and reservation information is available by calling 1-692-2773.

Roland E. Sodowsky has been chosen one of the six winners of the 1983 General Electric Foundation Awards for Younger Writers for his story, "Landlady," which appeared in Sou'Wester Magazine. Sou'Wester is edited and published by the department of English language and literature at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The honor carries with it a prize of $5,000, with a companion prize of $1,000 going to the magazine for bringing the work into print. This is the first year of the competition. Sodowsky won out in a group of 367 writers nominated by 197 literary magazines.

THE COORDINATING COUNCIL of Literary Magazines and the General Electric Foundation will present the award at a ceremony to take place in New York City in January at the Griller Club.

This is the second major recognition for Sodowsky and his work. Earlier this year, he and the story were cited as the best single story published either in book form or in a periodical by the Texas Institute of Letters.

Sodowsky is currently on the English faculty at Sul Ross State University; previously he served three years at the University of California in Berkeley.

THE HONORED STORY is drawn from his African experience. It depicts the cultural tensions involved in the construction of a modern housing project in an indigenous village through encounters between the American manager, or mbakara, and a native woman considered "mad" because her attachment to older, traditional ways. It appeared in the Spring/Summer, 1982, issue of the SIUE literary journal, edited by Mary Diesel-Hamm, Lana Hayes, and Terry Nipper. Dickie A. Spurgeon, professor of English language and literature, was the managing editor.

New bishop meets with monsignor

Bishop Daniel L. Ryan, D.D., auxiliary bishop of Joliet, Ill., was in Springfield last Wednesday to confer with Monsignor Paul Sheridan, a former Granite Cityan and apostolic administrator of the diocese since the death last April of Bishop Joseph A. McNicholas. A press conference was held at the Chancery Office.

Bishop Ryan was named the seventh bishop of the Springfield Diocese by Pope John Paul II Nov. 22.

Bishop Ryan was born Sept. 28, 1930, in Mankato, Minn., the son of Leonard B. "Pat" Ryan and Irene Ruth Ryan (nee Larson), who are deceased. His sister, Mary Louise Ryan, a former faculty member of the Graduate School of Loyola University, Chicago, now resides in Warrenville, Ill.

The Ryan family resided in Springfield from 1943-45 when Mr. Ryan was employed by the National City Bus Lines Corporation. The young Dan Ryan attended eighth grade at Blessed Sacrament School. He received the Sacrament of Confirmation at Blessed Sacrament Church from Bishop James A. Griffin on May 6, 1945. He enrolled at Cathedral Boys' High School for his freshman year.

When his father was transferred to northern Illinois, he enrolled in the Pastoral Preparatory High School in St. Louis to pursue a religious vocation. Deciding later that he wished to be a diocesan priest, he began studies for the Diocese of Joliet in 1950.

Father Ryan was ordained a priest on May 3, 1956. Two years after ordination, he was sent to Rome to study Canon Law. Returning to the Joliet Diocese in 1960, he served in the Chancery Office as assistant chancellor, and vicar general. In 1979, he became pastor of St. Michael's Parish in Wheaton, Ill.

On Aug. 14, 1981, Pope Paul II named Father Daniel L. Ryan a bishop to serve as auxiliary to Joliet's present Bishop Joseph L. Ivesch. His episcopal ordination was on Sept. 30, 1981.

Plans for Bishop Ryan's installation as Bishop of Springfield are not complete.

Q. Our daughter, who is a high school student, worked at a part time job this summer, for which her employer withheld income tax. She will not have made enough this entire year to pay tax. We're wondering why income taxes are withheld under these circumstances.

A. This is normal practice for employers, particularly if her payroll is on a computer system. However, it is possible to avoid having taxes withheld next year if your daughter works again, and does not expect to earn enough to be liable for taxes. In order to avoid withholding, she should claim exempt status on the W-4 Employee's Withholding Allowance Certificate which she must file with her employer. She will qualify for the exemption if she expects no tax liability this year, and had none last year. There is one item of withholding, however, which no one is exempt from, and those are Social Security taxes which she must pay in any event.

ROAD IMPROVEMENTS. Venice Township Supervisor Christ Pashoff points to some of the road improvements that have been made on North Street. The money for the improvements came from $54,000 in community development grant funds. Improvements were also made on Swan Drive, Missouri Avenue, Logan Street and Rock Road. According to Pashoff, Venice Township Road Commissioner Eddie Salmond was instrumental in obtaining the funds. Pashoff said the any resident on the streets who sees a truck on the road should report it to the proper authorities. The roads have five-ton weight limits on them.

PRESS-RECORD

In Thanksgiving Tournament Warriors turn turkey; drop all three in Quincy

By ROGER KRAMER
of the Press-Record

QUINCY — Granite City High School basketball coach Don Deterding had a bad taste in his mouth Saturday after the Warriors dropped their third game at the Quincy Thanksgiving Tournament Saturday.

Deterding knew the Warriors could have had a 2-1 record after the tournament instead of a 0-3 record. It was simply a matter of mistakes — missed free throws, bad passes and bad floor play — that made the difference between 2-1 and 0-3.

The Warriors were really out of one game, Thursday's opening game with Gordon Tech (Chicago). Gordon Tech toppled the Warriors 64-48. Even that game could have been close if the Warriors had been able to hit more than six of 16 free throws.

However, the games that hurt the most were Friday's and Saturday's games. Quincy, which went on to win its own tournament for the sixth straight year, used the Warriors' third quarter turnovers on Friday to earn a 63-35 victory.

Saturday was more of the same for Granite City. The only difference was that the turnovers came in the fourth quarter. The Warriors led Maine East throughout most of the game, but the Demons gladly took the turnovers and turned them into a 59-47 victory.

"We have to learn how to pass the ball, and we have to learn to keep the ball off the floor. If we could have done that, we could have won a couple of games here. We gave them two of the three games, and we should have been in the first one had we been able to hit our free throws," Deterding said.

There were good things about the tournament. Last year, Granite City South only had one close game in the tournament, a 65-62 loss to Chicago Marley. Quincy and Chicago Marist defeated South by 29 and 20 points respectively.

This year, all of the games were in question until the Warriors made the mistakes. Deterding had no qualms about the Warriors' defense or the shooting through the tournament.

"We did quite a few things right this year, but after you see it's hard to remember all of the good things," Deterding said. "The bad things obviously outnumber the good things, otherwise we would have won."

The Warriors' free throw shooting improved drastically from the first game of the tournament, but the ball handling skills of the Warriors didn't. After more than two weeks of working on offensive and defensive strategy, the Warriors will want to see the fundamentals this week in practice.

"Ninety percent of bad passing is mental," Deterding said. "The kids don't realize the coverage or they don't see the open man. I still think passing is a coachable thing, and we're going to work on it hard this week."

"You expect mistakes out of the kids, but you want to keep them to a minimum of one or two a player. We have to learn not to put the ball down when we don't have to. When we did, they stole the ball and scored on us," Deterding said.

That is precisely what happened to the Warriors in the fourth quarter of Saturday's game. Granite City tried to salvage one game out of the tournament and led through much of the game. One play turned things around.

With the Warriors leading 45-44 in the fourth quarter, Maine East's Andy Mackowski stole a bad pass by the Warriors and dribbled it down the length of the court. Warrior guard Art Williams, seeing a certain basket for Mackowski, fouled him with the intent to stop anything Mackowski wanted to try.

Despite the foul, Mackowski scored with a lay-up. On top of that, the officials awarded Mackowski two free throws because of Williams' intentional foul. Mackowski, who was selected to the all-tournament team, calmly sunk both free throws to put the Demons ahead 48-45.

"That was a four-point play there that really hurt us, but it was a bad pass that caused that all to happen. We just stopped passing well in the fourth quarter," Deterding said.

From there, it was downhill for the Warriors. Granite City committed six more turnovers that quarter. That forced the Warriors to foul to try to get the ball back. However, the Demons made nine of 12 free throws in the fourth quarter to ensure victory.

Meanwhile, Granite City was unable to score in the last four minutes of the game.

The turnovers spoiled what could have been a strong performance for the Warriors. Williams stole the ball seven times and the Warriors controlled the board in the first three quarters.

Meanwhile, Jeff Gray continued burning his opponents near the baseline. Gray scored 17 points against Maine East and scored 33 points for the tournament. The performance put him on the all-tournament team.

Forward Charles Evison took charge and scored 24 points for the Rams. Dave Kuehn put in 15 points, and Mike Rombout added 14 more for Gordon Tech.

Gray showed his value to the Warriors with a 22 point performance in the season opener. Cant added 10 points for Granite City.

The Warriors, who have practically made Quincy a second home, play at Quincy Notre Dame Saturday night.

by six after one period and by three at halftime.

"Inexperience may be one of the reasons why we can't execute, but I don't think we know how to win. When you get a team that hasn't won very much, it's difficult to get over the hump. You have to win to learn how to win," Deterding said.

QUINCY 62 GRANITE CITY 55

Granite City played well enough to tie the Blue Devils through the first half, but turnovers again set in for the Warriors against the undefeated Blue Devils.

Quincy outscored the Warriors 20-12 in the third quarter and forced the Warriors to play catch up in the fourth quarter. The Warriors couldn't.

"It was the same thing we did with Maine East. Turnovers hurt us again, and we couldn't stay with them the whole game," Deterding said.

The combination of Jeff Klingler, the tournament MVP, and Jack Kramer, also named to the all-tournament team, combined for 36 points to do the most damage to the Warriors. Both players scored 18 points for the game.

Klingler is the first player outside of the famous Douglas family — of Keith, Bruce and Dennis — of Quincy to win the MVP. Ever since the beginning of the award in 1977, a Blue Devil has earned the MVP award.

Gray led the Warriors' attack with 14 points, and Cant added 12 more for Granite City.

Quincy won the tournament Saturday by destroying Gordon Tech 62-54. Klingler again led the attack with 27 points, while Kramer scored 17 points. Quincy, which lost all of its starters except for Klingler and was supposed to be in a rebuilding year, is 4-0 for the season.

GORDON TECH 64 GRANITE CITY 48

Gordon Tech built a nine-point lead at halftime and tacked on seven more points in the fourth quarter to win the opening game on Thanksgiving Day.

The death of leading rebounder George Robinson two weeks earlier seemed not to affect the intensity of the Rams. All of Gordon Tech's players wore black bands on their shirts to honor Robinson.

Forward Charles Evison took charge and scored 24 points for the Rams. Dave Kuehn put in 15 points, and Mike Rombout added 14 more for Gordon Tech.

Gray showed his value to the Warriors with a 22 point performance in the season opener. Cant added 10 points for Granite City.

The Warriors, who have practically made Quincy a second home, play at Quincy Notre Dame Saturday night.

EASY TWO. Granite City High School guard Art Williams (15) puts in two points after he stole the ball from Maine East in the Warriors' third game of the Quincy Thanksgiving Tournament Saturday. Watching the play is Maine East's Andy Mackowski. Despite the basket, Maine East defeated the Warriors 59-47. Granite City is 0-3 after the tournament.

On Friday MHC show attracts 700

GRANITE CITY — Those persons who stayed away from the Mexican Honorary Commission's boxing show Friday, hoping to see better boxing on the nationally televised Larry Holmes-Marvis Frazier match, came out on the short end. The best boxing Friday began shortly after 8 p.m. at the Washington Theatre.

Through 13 amateur bouts various boxers, ranging in size from 60 to 178 pounds, slugged their hearts out, each hoping to take home the taller, first place trophy.

It was amateur boxing at its best. "I'm very happy with the way things turned out," Merce Mendoza, MHC coach and show organizer said afterwards. "We (the MHC boxing team) lost a couple of close ones, but we turned in some good performances and everyone seemed to have a good time."

In all, the victories were nearly as even as possible, typical of a balancing boxing card. Of the eight teams present, six teams — MHC, the ABC Boxing Club of St. Louis, the North County Boxing Club, the South Side Boxing Club, the Carondelet Boxing Club and the Neighborhood (St. Louis) Boxing Club — each finished with two team wins. A seventh team, the Sullivan Boxing Club, won the other match. Only one club, the Trojan Boxing Club of East St. Louis, was winless.

"This was a good show. I think it was well organized and fair," said Ray Kube, coach of the South Side

Boxing Club. "Merce deserves a lot of credit."

"In a show like this one, you're gonna see victories as divided as they were tonight. If they're not, people are going to think something's fixed. Once that happens they'll never come back."

Kube, whose 119-pound novice boxer, Troy Mason, won the Outstanding Boxer Award of the evening, explained that the victories were distributed as evenly as they were indicative of the balance and quality of boxing among the area's clubs.

MHC's Darrin Habs began competition in the first bout of the evening as he took on Chris Lackey of the Sullivan Boxing Club in a 60-pound sub-novice bout.

For three one-minute rounds, Habs and Lackey relentlessly swapped punches, each throwing a barrage of punches at the other. Some were landing, but more the missing or deflecting off the gloves of the other.

In the end, it was Lackey who picked up a victory on the split decision.

"I was surprised when they announced that he won the fight," Mendoza said. "Darrin was aggressive, threw some good punches. I thought he should have won it."

"He's a good talented kid. We expect to see some fine boxing from him in the future," Mendoza concluded.

MHC boxers were featured in eight of the 13 bouts. In the second bout of the evening, Joe Kostoff, representing MHC, battled Joe Walk Kostoff fell behind in the first round as Walk attacked early, landing three good shots to Kostoff's head.

In the second round, the 75 pound sub-novice MHC boxer evened up the score to win the second round. In the third and deciding round, Walk got back on track, landing more often than Kostoff to win the match.

"That was only Joe's third fight," Mendoza said, assessing the fight afterwards. "He's very dedicated and should be a very good fighter in the future. He still needs to work on his quickness, though."

for MHC. "Derrick's got all the punches he needs to be really a fine boxer," Mendoza said. "He's gonna win a whole lot of fights."

Terry Davis, a sub-novice 90-pounder, picked up MHC's second and final victory of the evening as he defeated South Side Boxing Club's Scott McLean.

In the fourth bout of the evening, Davis and McLean boxed to draws in the first and third rounds. It was in the second round, however, when Davis landed more frequently — two right hand upper cuts to the chin — and with more accuracy than McLean, which eventually swayed the five judges.

"T.J.'s (Davis) in the same class as Derrick," Mendoza began. "He's got all the tools to be an excellent boxer. He mixes up his combinations well and seems to know when is the best time to use a particular punch. He's one of our better boxers."

The victory improves Davis' record to 10-5.

Following Davis' victory over McLean, MHC boxers had a two-match break while four St. Louis area clubs swapped punches.

At Fall Banquet

Warriors name best kickers, spikers, harriers

By BELINDA CONLEY

An awards banquet was held last Tuesday night for the soccer, volleyball and cross country teams at Granite City High School.

Soccer coach Gene Baker chose Matt Sheridan as his most valuable player. Baker said he felt that, "there was no other choice. Sheridan was All-American, All-State, and was chosen the number one player in the state of Illinois. Matt also led the team in scoring, is an outstanding student and is considered one of the top prospects in the area."

Senior Nathan Crane won the Meat Award for performing beyond the call of duty Baker said of Crane, "He won the award for playing despite an injury and for going beyond what he had to do."

The Senior Merit award was presented to Mike Sikora. "He's one of those kids that the program paid for him and he paid the program. He helped the program a lot."

Most Improved award went to Mike Houston. "Mike solidified the defense. In the last 12 games I don't think he had a bad one. If we'd have had him against Glenbrook North at state, we might have won," said Baker.

Cross country coach Pete Robinson selected Lora Wiser as the girls' most valuable athlete and Jim Robertson as the boys' most valuable.

"It's unusual to have two runners on a team place at state, but Lora and Jim did. Wiser was our leading runner, she placed 16 in state. No one on the team ever beat her, although there is other criteria for the award, there wasn't much of a choice to make," Robinson said.

"I chose Robertson for the same reason. He was our best runner and he was a team leader," according to Coach Robinson.

The two winners of the award for most consistent athletes were Jeff Hoese and Michelle Shoemaker. Robinson said he chose them because they were "two solid second place runners and they deserved recognition for that."

Senior Todd Scrum won the award for most dedicated player. According to Robinson, "Todd was, sometimes varsity sometimes not, but he was always ready when we needed him on varsity. His spirit inspired us. I felt he deserved the recognition, we need those kind of kids to keep the program strong."

Award winners for the volleyball team were Vicki Smith for best receiver, Lisa Lilley for best spiker and Michelle Morgan for best server and best spiker.

Coach Wilma Schultze said of her choices, "Although the whole team was good, these players were most consistent. Vicki has a lot of ability which was why I put her on the back line in the first place. Lisa did the most damage at the net and Michelle was the best server. I usually base the awards on statistics, but this year I didn't. After watching these girls every day, the choices were easy."

Tuesday's sports award banquet was the second and final event honoring athletes who competed in fall sports. Prior to Tuesday's affair, Warriors honored its golf, football and tennis teams with a similar banquet.

HONORED HARRIERS. Five members of the Warrior cross country team were honored Tuesday night at the fall sports award banquet. Beginning from left, Jim Robertson, most valuable athlete, Michelle Shoemaker, most consistent female, Jeff Hoese, most consistent male, Lora Wiser, most valuable and Todd Scrum, most dedicated athlete. Robertson and Wiser both placed in state competition this fall.

STAR SPIKERS. Vicki Smith, right, and Lisa Lilley were two of the special merit recipients for volleyball Tuesday night at the fall sports award banquet. Smith was named most defensive receiver while Lilley was honored for being the team's best spiker. A third athlete, Michelle Morgan (not pictured), was the team's best server and setter.

ing, MHC's Earl Collie lost a decision to Jimmy Steward of the Carondelet Boxing Club. Collie, in his second fight, was successful in landing a shot to Steward's head in the opening seconds of the second round, but failed to impress the judges beyond that and eventually lost the decision to Steward.

In the ninth match of the evening, perhaps the best of the night, MHC's Steve Gancheff lost a split decision to Mason of the South Side Warrior Boxing Club.

It was one of those ebb-and-flow matches — just when it seems one is landing a good right hand to send the other reeling.

Through the first round, Gancheff and Mason traded punches almost evenly. In the second round, Gancheff retreated somewhat — to save himself for the final round — and Mason amassed more points to win that round.

In the third and final round, both boxers landed nearly as frequently as the other. In the waning seconds, however, Gancheff poured it on, successfully landing two good shots to Mason's head.

It was not enough, however, as the judges awarded Mason the split decision.

"It seems as though Steve's always giving up weight," Mendoza said assessing the fight. "He was light for this fight and in his last bout, he also gave up nine pounds. But, he's a gutsy kid, a good fighter with a strong punch.

"This fight could have gone any way."

In the 178-pound matchup, the heaviest bout of the evening, MHC's Dave Wilson lost a second-round technical knock out to Tony Barrow of the North County Boxing Club.

Wilson knocked Barrow nearly even for the opening minutes of the first round, but lost that equilibrium by the end of the first round.

By the start of the second round, Barrow was dominating and opened, a small cut above Wilson's left eye.

Dr. Maurice David Lambert, ringside doctor, awarded the technical victory to Barrow. Dr. Lambert, incidentally, formerly of Granite City is now practicing in Altamont.

Chip Hagnauer, the final MHC boxer to compete Friday, lost a split decision to Andy Lynch of the Carondelet Boxing Club.

NOTES: Of the 13 matches Friday, 11 fighters who won came from the red corner. The only two boxers to win from the blue corner were MHC boxers, Bloodworth and Davis.

Nine straight winners came from the blue corner.

The Mexican Honorary Commission is planning another local show sometime in early February, according to Mendoza.

MHC Coach Mendoza, prior to the final fight of the evening, was presented a plaque for his dedication and contributions to the amateur boxing. The presentation was made by two-time St. Louis Golden Gloves champion Danny Mendoza.

Danny Mendoza, who did not fight Friday because of an injury unrelated to boxing, is hopeful that he'll be "back to form" by the next MHC home show in February.

Stars fall short of East Central cagers

of the Press Record

ST. LOUIS — Despite a brilliant 25-10 point performance by Ruthie Jacks, Granite City Center lost its second game of the season Friday to East Central Junior College by the score of 86-54. The game was played at the University of Missouri at St. Louis.

As the Stars wore down in the second half East Central began to pull away.

Granite City Center's problems were not in scoring itself, but in keeping the other team from scoring. Defense is definitely the Star's weakness.

"I can't expect the girls to play defense or rebound when they're that tired," stated Coach McFarland.

"The girls just aren't in shape yet. We're going to start doing alot more running in practice," he added.

"I think we will have a good chance against this team the next time we play them. They aren't as strong as I expected them to be," said McFarland.

The Star's will not have long to wait for another chance since they will meet East Central in their next home game Monday Dec. 3. Game time is set for 6:30.

FCA games are fruitful

The Madison High School and Junior High chapters of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes' benefit basketball game on Friday, Nov. 18 can best be described as fruitful.

In all the Fellowship, with the help of the faculty, raised 600 cans fruit and vegetables (242 more than last year), $146 for groceries, while the concession stand exceeded its expenditures by $101, which went for food for Madison's needy. The total sum raised was $247 and the 600 canned goods.

Those canned goods, and the groceries bought with the gate and concession receipts, were distributed in 35 baskets to needy Madison families so they may have a better Thanksgiving.

The food baskets consisted of 17 cans of fruit and vegetables, two boxes of macaroni, one-pound of chicken, Northern beans, noodles and one

Madison County Zoning Board conducts 3 on-site hearings

The Madison County Zoning Board of Appeals will conduct on-site hearings at three sites in Nameoki Township beginning at 9 a.m. Wednesday, Nov. 30.

The first hearing request is a special use permit for Hazel, Schley and Karen Martin, who want to place a mobile home on the property on Route 111, directly across from Kelley Plumbing.

The second petition is that of William and Katie Barks, who are requesting a special use permit to allow the continuation of a mobile home in an R-4 single-family residential district located at 1225 Meridian Ave.

The third petition was filed by Bill S. Revell, representing the Church of Christ, and Larry Beyer, representing the Granite City Jaycees, who are requesting that the zoning of Maryville Road property be changed from an R-3 one-family residence district to a B-1 limited business district with a special use permit for clubs or lodges. The Jaycees wish to erect a soccer field, little league baseball fields and a club house along Maryville Road approximately 100 feet south of Arnold Drive.

Seek benefits for women veterans

Denying to female veterans benefits equal to those of male veterans was denounced by the Illinois Commission on the Status of Women at its late November meeting.

Rep. Woods Bowman (D-Evanston), a member of the commission, cited data presented by the National Women's Health Network and called the situation a national disgrace.

The Network had pointed out that all men who have served in the military can receive outpatient health services through the VA system, even for non-service disabilities, but women veterans generally are turned away.

According to a report by the General Services Administration, most of the women are not able to receive outpatient treatment for non-service disabilities, even if needed to avoid hospitalization.

Only one out of 23 centers surveyed by the government provided routine medical tests for women, pelvic and breast exams, and pap smears. Only 10 of 18 VA centers that care for disabled veterans will allow women patients.

Also, some psychiatric programs do not provide treatment for women. "The VA cites a lack of privacy in sleeping quarters and bathrooms as a reason for not serving women veterans."

"These women service their country and deserve equal consideration for their sacrifice," Bowman said as he moved that the commission support and work for equal benefits for female veterans. "This discriminatory treatment proves that the policy of our government is to treat women as second-class citizens."

Rep. Barbara Flynn Currie (D-Chicago), commission chairman, said, "This practice would be unconstitutional if the Equal Rights Amendment had been ratified. I am proud that our commission has consistently supported the ERA, and we will continue to fight discrimination wherever it exists."

MAN RECEIVES 14-DAY TERM IN COUNTY JAIL

After he allegedly resisted his removal from an apartment at 1739 Edison Ave. last week, Norman R. Lucas, 19, of that address was charged with battery, disorderly conduct and resisting arrest. He also was booked on a warrant alleging a traffic violation.

A resident at the Edison address said Lucas refused to leave. When officers went to the apartment, the man allegedly slammed the door, yelled at officers and placed a couch behind the door.

He tried again to slam the door while an officer was partially inside the room, attempted to hit the officer and struggled with police. It was alleged. Other police were summoned and Lucas was taken in a squad car. Later, he was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center when he complained of pain and then was returned to custody.

In a court appearance this week, Lucas was sentenced to serve 14 days in the Madison County jail at Edwardsville on the traffic warrant. He pleaded innocent to the remaining charges.

NO ATTORNEY NEEDED IN MANY SMALL CLAIMS COURTS
Officers of corporations will now be able to represent the corporation in small claims court in cases involving less than $2,500. That's the result of the General Assembly's final action on H.B. 349 last week.

The new law is expected to help small businesses, since they currently lose millions of dollars an ually in unpaid bills and other accounts receivable. Such firms often cannot afford to employ an attorney to recover the small amount involved, and even if the claim is recovered, still lose money after paying legal fees.

Illinois hospitals propose price competition

Illinois hospitals last week proposed creating a new system of health care delivery in the state to stem rising costs and allow hospitals to "compete as businesses do" for their patients.

A proposed Illinois Health Finance and Fiscal Equity Act was presented before the Illinois Senate Select Committee on Hospital Cost Containment at a public hearing in Chicago.

The three-year plan would cap hospital costs by setting limits in advance on the average amount hospitals can charge. The proposal also would encourage employers and health insurers to negotiate group discounts with hospitals for their workers and beneficiaries.

The system is a prescriptive, administratively simple and, for the first time, gives hospitals incentives to compete for patients by providing the best possible services at the best prices," said Illinois Hospital Association (IHS) Chairman John G. King, president of the Evangelical Health Systems in Oak Brook.

The proposal also would stop increases in hospital cost-shifting. King said, where the unpaid costs of government-purchased health care for the poor and elderly are passed on to private paying or insured patients.

He called the plan "a giant step forward for the hospital industry in responding to public concern over health care costs."

Specifically, the hospital industry proposal would create the Illinois Health Finance and Fiscal Equity Commission to study the most effective ways of stabilizing health care costs in this state. Based on its findings, the commission would make recommendations to the Illinois General Assembly by Dec. 31, 1986.

In the meantime, hospitals would be paid according to predetermined average charges for each inpatient. The charge cap would be adjusted yearly to ensure that the rate of increase in hospital costs only reflects the rate of inflation in the costs of goods and services hospitals buy.

Hospitals whose charges exceed the cap would lose the excess revenue by facing a lower cap in the next year.

They would be phased into the new system six months after the end of their most recent fiscal year, beginning Oct. 1, 1984. The system would not include elderly patients covered under the federal government's Medicare program and would give a discounted rate to public aid patients under the state's Medicaid program.

"This plan is based on positive incentives," said IHA President Kenneth C. Robbins, "incentives which motivate hospitals, physicians, insurers, government and consumers to become more cost-conscious when using the state's health care resources."

"Precisely because those incentives are positive rather than punitive this plan also would ensure that the current quality of health care services in Illinois is not jeopardized."

"Rather than forcing hospitals to cut services or lay off employees, this system encourages hospitals to find the most cost-effective ways of treating the most patients."

Gerald E. Heffery receives promotion

Gerald E. Heffery, formerly of Granite City, who is employed with Store, Matakovich and Wolfberg, a consultant firm in California, has been promoted to chief electrical engineer upon the retirement of George J. Matakovich, according to an announcement by the company.

A 1963 graduate of Granite City High School, Heffery also graduated from the University of Missouri at Rolla, Mo., in 1967, with a bachelor of science degree in electrical engineering. He also was a member of the Triangle Fraternity and served as president of the organization for one year.

He started his career working at Disneyland, Calif., in June 1967 as associate engineer and engineer for seven years and was then sent to Disney World in Florida, to assist with its construction, until it was opened to the public in 1971. Upon returning to California, he was assigned as project engineer for the development of the first Disney Electrical Parade and in 1976 he became electrical inspector and superintendent of Space Mountain Construction.

Heffery started working for the present company in 1981. He and his wife are the parents of one son, Sean who is 3-years old and a 4-month old daughter, Tara Lynn. They make their home in Brea, Calif.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Heffery, reside at 2632 E. 28th St.

Madison to sell surplus property

By DONNA KIMBRO

Madison aldermen agreed to advertise for bids for the sale of a parcel of real estate owned by the city and located on Old Alton Road in Chouteau Township.

During a meeting last week, the council agreed to seek sealed bids for the purchase of Parcel 022, consisting of 31 of an acre, in Township Tract 18. The bids will be received by the city clerk at the Madison City Hall between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Mondays through Fridays and until 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Dec. 20, when all bids received will be publicly opened and read aloud at the regular meeting of Madison City Council.

"I do not know how long the city has owned this lot, but when checking on taxes paid, we discovered the city did in fact own the unimproved and vacant parcel. We (the city) might as well sell it, since the city will probably never have a use for the property at that location."

Mayor Sasyk told the aldermen.

The councilmen agreed to pay bills in the amount of $68,946 and accepted a report from John Dutko, city building inspector, that 19 permits were issued during the month. Curtis King, assistant building inspector for West Madison, also reported 11 permits were issued in that section of the city this month.

King also presented a letter to the council from King B. Lyons giving permission to the city to level a shed located at 514 rear Jefferson St.

Five bids for various items of equipment needed by the Fire Department were opened, read and referred to the Fire Chief Mike Macek and purchasing committee for a recommendation to be submitted to the council at its next meeting.

The aldermen agreed to Fred Finazzo, 17200 Kennedy Drive, as a cadet on the fire department on recommendation by Macek.

A petition from Chester McManaway, 1681 Second St., to construct a two-car addition to his property and a special use permit from the Lantner Co. to build a 2,000 square foot office, were referred to the zoning committee. Councilmen did agree to give permission to Lantner Co. to change the sewer lines at the business location in anticipation of the construction, due to the late time of the year and chance of bad weather stopping the excavation for new sewer lines.

The mayor requested permission from the aldermen to advertise for bids to construct ramps at both recreation centers in Madison. The council in September agreed to begin preliminary work by hiring Henry Gabriel & Associates to prepare designs for the ramps.

Community Development Funds will finance the work. Both buildings must have ramps to give handicapped persons access to the centers before any further renovation can be done, the mayor explained.

The aldermen agreed to Fred Finazzo, 17200 Kennedy Drive, as a cadet on the fire department on recommendation by Macek.

at SIUE and financial assistance for the art department's special needs, such as visiting artists, lecturers, workshops and exhibits.

Auto hits man carrying a table

A pedestrian who was carrying a small table diagonally across Madison Avenue 275 feet south of 23rd Street at 5:45 p.m. Thursday was struck by a southbound auto.

Michael Malkowski, 33, of 2232 Grand Ave. was knocked down and received multiple injuries, authorities said. He was taken in a city ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Walking westward, he had crossed the center line of the four-lane street when hit by the car of Dr. Prasanna K. Kumar, 42, of 2281 Shilpine Drive. The pedestrian's back was partly toward the inner southbound lane and he apparently did not see the vehicle approaching.

The motorist did not see the man until he entered the auto's path. Brakes were applied and there were skid marks for 20 feet on the pavement.

Madison County teachers take up Southwestern math project

A cadre of intermediate teachers has been selected from school districts in Madison County to participate in the Southwestern Illinois Math Project. Those involved include Paul Kinde of Granite City Community School District 9, and 13 other Madison County teachers will be trained in alternative methods of teaching math.

In a recently published report, "A Nation at Risk," developed by The National Commission on Excellence in Education for the U.S. Department of Education, the decline in mathematics skills is documented as a potential national crisis that not only affects many school-age children, but the future of our society as a whole.

Although this problem relates to the entire spectrum of K-12 mathematics education, and opinions vary on when or what grade levels this problem is acute, there exists some consensus that the intermediate grade levels are a crucial stage in a child's development of math skills.

In addition to the National evidence, local councils have been assessing the state of the art of math instruction and student achievement in school districts within the Area V Educational Service Region territory. It was the consensus of the local councils that there existed a need for reform in mathematics instruction.

In an effort to meet this need, Area V Educational Service Region superintendents cooperatively submitted a proposal for the Southwestern Illinois Math Project. Teachers will be representing their regions, including Harold "Gebe" Briggs from Madison County. The project has been funded by Chapter 11 of the Education Consolidation and Improvement Act through the Illinois State Board of Education.

The overall goal of the Southwestern Illinois Math Project is to provide a foundation for a long-range solution of the problem of declining mathematical skills by implementing a proven model math program. This program was developed and validated at Grant School in Fairview Heights, by Andrew White. This program is an individualized, student-paced model which really "turns kids on to math."

It is anticipated that improvement in instructional skills and increased interest in mathematics by students will result in improved student mathematical skills and achievement test scores. The main components of this model are: mastery learning, classroom management, and a "Tools of Trade" component which incorporates microcomputers, calculators and other available resources.

Another objective concerns the organization of a math council in each educational service region in Area V. This cadre of key teachers will have as its purpose the perpetuation of quality math instruction through the continuation of the goals and the objectives of the Southwestern Illinois Math Project. The coordinator of this project is Judy Deterding.

Buses free through Dec. 4

The Madison County Transit District is again sponsoring free rides on Bi-State buses for residents in the county now through Dec. 4.

The purpose of the free ride promotion is to provide who don't normally ride the bus, an incentive to ride the service. Bi-State's market research shows that people who do ride the bus or have at least tried the service have a much higher opinion of public transportation than those who have never ridden a bus. A spokesman for Madison County, which is underwriting the cost of the promotion, said, "If only a very small percentage of those who try the free ride become regular bus riders, the promotion will easily pay for itself."

The free rides include all Bi-State routes serving Madison County, including:

- 554X Collinsville Express
- 554X Maryville-Belline Express
- 521 State Central
- 514R Bethalto-St. Louis Rapid
- 507 Collinsville-Bellineville

503 Collinsville-Edwardsville

553 West-Granite-Stockyards

513P Alton-Hazelwood Park-Ride

503P Edwardsville Park-Ride

513 Alton-St. Louis

530 McKinley Bridge

532 East Granite

530X Pontoon Express

Persons traveling these lines will not be required to pay a bus fare or zone charges. No transfers will be issued on these routes, so a person transferring from a Madison County line to another bus will be required to pay full fare on the second bus. The free rides are available only on those routes specified and only on Friday, Nov. 25, through Sunday, Dec. 4. Full fares resume on Madison County routes Monday, Dec. 5, 1983.

For more information on any Bi-State routes or fares, interested persons may call Bi-State Transit Information from 6:30 a.m. to 8:00 p.m., Mondays through Fridays. The toll-free number is 875-4144.

Select check-off order on state tax forms

A lottery was held this month in Springfield to determine which of three check-offs would get top billing on the state income tax returns. The check-offs will allow Illinois taxpayers to designate a portion of their 1983 state tax refunds to go to the Illinois veterans home, non-game wildlife or abused children.

State officials, legislators and other representatives of the three causes watched as the name of each cause was sealed inside a bright orange ball, the balls were placed inside a round see-through container and tumbled about, and then were drawn one by one by Revenue Director J. Thomas Johnson.

First to be drawn was the Illinois veterans home. Second was nongame wildlife and third was abused children. As a result, they will appear in that order on the state income tax return.

Through this "check-off" system, each taxpayer may have up to $10 of his or her refund donated to any or all of the three causes (for a maximum of $30 per joint return).

Revenue Director Johnson called the lottery "the fairest way" to determine how each of these worthy causes will be listed on tax returns.

"The order of the check-offs was given the 'lottery' because it was the fairest way to place the placement of names on an election ballot," he said. "By using a lottery, we have given each cause an equal chance of being first on the list."

Legislation authorizing the check-off was passed during the recent session of the Illinois General Assembly. The three bills and their sponsors are:

- Senate Bill 220 - (Sen. Virginia MacDonald and Rep. Diana Nelson) Creates the "Illinois non-game Wildlife Protection Act." Each individual income taxpayer can designate $10 of his tax refund, or the amount of the refund if less than $10, to the Illinois Non-game Wildlife Protection Fund. The Department of Conservation will expend monies deposited in the fund to protect and enhance the non-game wildlife population.
- Senate Bill 1111 - (Sen. Laura Kent-Donahue and Rep. Jeffrey Mays) Creates the Illinois Veterans' Home Fund. Permits each individual income taxpayer to dedicate $10 of his tax refund, or the total amount of the refund is less than $10, for the purpose of maintaining the Illinois Veterans Home in Quincy. The bill also allows real estate owned by the Department of Veterans Affairs to be leased, with any funds received from such lease to be used for upkeep of the Veterans Home.

House Bill 537 - (Rep. Dennis Hastert and Sen. Robert Kustra) Creates the Child Abuse Prevention Fund. Each individual income taxpayer can dedicate $10 of his tax refund, or the amount of the refund if less than $10, to the fund.

Department of Children and Family Services is given the authority to expend such monies to fund comprehensive community-based services which reduce child abuse and neglect.

Lt. Gov. Ryan will speak at republican convention

Lieutenant Governor George Ryan will deliver the keynote address at the Madison County Republican Convention at 7:30 p.m. on Monday, Dec. 5, in the Edwardsville High School Cafeteria.

Madison County State Attorney Don Weber will outline the outstanding record of prosecutive and his staid record in office. Other county candidates may be introduced.

Following a presentation of equal time by Senator Frank Watson and representative candidate Ron Stevens, a straw poll of everyone in attendance will be taken on the contested races for U.S. senator and congressman. Bob Gaffner and Ted Farmer will make their presentations on their congressional races.

Congressman Tom Corcoran and Senator Charles Percy, or their proxies, will each present their cause. If they cannot personally attend, a high-ranking spokesman will be present.

A short presentation on effective precinct campaigning will be given. Materials for the Lincoln Day Dinner and book will be available for committeemen and district chairmen.

Better economy in 1984-85 predicted

More than half of those present, 54 percent, said current economic expansion would continue through 1985. Less than a third, or 28 percent, said economic expansion would last only until sometime in 1984.

In terms of inflation, 59 percent projected that the rate during the first three quarters of 1984 would be between four and five percent, while 38 percent predicted it would range between five and six percent.

Fifty-three percent said that unemployment would stand between seven and eight percent at this time next year.

By mid-1984, 50 percent of the bankers expect loan demand to show significant strength. Thirty-six percent said loan demand would show strength after the election in November, 1984.

When asked their preference for the Democratic presidential candidate, 46 percent opted for John Glenn. Second choice was Walter Mondale, with 16 percent of the vote.

On other matters, 46 percent of the bankers said the prime rate would be 10-11.5 percent at this point in 1984. Thirty-six percent said it would be 11-12.5 percent.

Regarding housing starts in 1984, 52 percent said they would be up from 1983 and 41 percent projected that they would be about the same as in 1983.

Forty-four percent of the bankers present chose earnings as the most important area of concern at the present time. Other choices were deregulation, new forms of competition, condition of the world economy and loan quality.

Forty-eight percent predicted that bank earnings in 1984 would be up slightly over 1983; 22 percent said they would be about the same as in 1983; and 15 percent said they would be down slightly.

Madison County Sewer Board refuses Rieckmann

Members of the Madison County Board's special sanitary sewer committee refused a plan Wednesday night which would have allowed Rieckmann Enterprises, a trucking company, to build a sanitary sewer extension to serve the company.

The board had put the plan on hold two weeks earlier, while the trucking company attempted to work out a "deal" with a neighboring party who might be interested in hooking to the proposed sewer line.

The company, which is located north of West Chain of Rocks road and west of Route 3, said it would bear the cost of the extension line, some $11,700, in return for being named the owner and operator of the line.

However, Sewer Committee Chairman Morris Miles said he feels the board might get into legal battles later on, if the board is not given ownership of the line. "I want the man (Rieckmann) to have a sewer, but I don't want him to have ownership of the pipe, because then he can block other people from hooking up (to it in the future) if he chooses," he said.

Doug Niles, representative of Rieckmann Enterprises, argued that only one other party is in the area and that this person had been asked to hook on. "And even this man wouldn't be blocked off, because he could go to the manhole on the other side of the highway," he said. "We asked this man to help defray some of our costs. We made him a fair deal, but he refused to go along with it."

Board Attorney Irvin C. Slate Jr. said the board could not allow Rieckmann Enterprises to retain ownership of the line after it had been built, because the board had trouble in the past with "people trying to collect fees."

In other business, the board approved the purchase of a device to measure the gas and types of gases that may be in a sewer line. The device, recommended by Sewer Superintendent Gene Futch, meets state requirements and has a visual and audible alarm. The cost of the device is $1,980.

Also at the meeting, the board approved a letter, drafted by Slate, to phone.

Tom Chura of Chura Engineering. Chura had requested a permit to practice engineering earlier on the Timberlake Development in Pontoon Beach. The letter said that, unless he could prove his certification in Illinois, the board would not recommend his permit.

"The Illinois Professional Engineers Act declares that it is unlawful for a county to engage in the construction of any public work involving professional engineering, unless the plans, specifications and estimates have been prepared by a registered professional engineer. The Act provides for one who is a professional engineer registered in another state to register in Illinois without examination. The fee is $40," Slate's letter said.

"The committee will not recommend that the County Board appoint you as the sewer engineer until receipt of proof of your qualification to act," it concluded.

Board members said that were still waiting for a reply from Chura, who also spoke with Slate by telephone.

Street collections to change

By GEORGEANN MCGEE
of the Press-Record

The familiar roadblocks local organizations now will be subjected themselves to a legal checkpoint, of sorts.

The Granite City Council voted 12-1 to impose a list of rules charitable groups must follow when they set up roadblocks at intersections. The new law is intended to bring the city in compliance with a similar state law.

AMONG THE regulations will be mandatory liability insurance of at least $500,000 to protect both the city and the solicitors. The required coverage could cost as much as $100 a day.

Donald K. Jaffke, vice president of Fremont Insurance, said the $100 figure seems a fair estimate. He suggested one alternative might be for organizations presently covered by liability insurance to have the solicitation coverage tagged onto current policies. By combining the two policies, the one-day coverage could be less than the $100 amount, he said.

Sixth Ward Alderman Stephen Saltich, a member of the Knights of Columbus, said that organization already is required by its state office to take out insurance coverage prior to its annual fund drive to aid retarded citizens.

SALTICH is unaware of any local organizations that would be adversely affected by the new law. Fellow Sixth Ward Alderman Woodrow Moat, however, voting against the measure, calling it too stringent. He concerned the regulations could be expensive or difficult for some groups to follow.

Other requirements will be the wearing of high-visibility vests within a solicitation area clearly marked with either safety cones or barricades with reflective tape. Those manning the intersections must be at least 16 years old.

Organizations will have to notify the city 30 days in advance of their intersection collections and must obtain a permit from the city clerk. The right to collect at intersections will be limited to charitable organizations registered with the state and that have a local chapter in Granite City.

ACCORDING TO City Attorney John Papa, the city regulations are modeled after a state law, which prohibits soliciting in traffic lanes, except under certain regulated circumstances. Under home rule authority, the city's law is somewhat more liberal than the state's one, Papa said.

Robert Bell, former president of Local 253, International Association of Firefighters, said union members stopped their annual drive for the Muscular Dystrophy Association about two years ago when the state law went into effect.

The Granite City Council had regularly approved solicitations at intersections in the past, and as late as last Tuesday night approved Project Help's request to block seven city streets for a fund drive conducted last weekend.

When Fifth Ward Alderman Jake Varadian asked Attorney Papa if the city would be in violation of state law if it did not approve the solicitation ordinance, he said the people blocking the intersections, and not the city, would be breaking the law.

Winter Preparedness Week

By VALERIE EVENDEN
of the Press-Record

A proclamation declaring the week of Nov. 27 to Dec. 3 as "Winter Storm Preparedness Week" was issued by Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler.

The document was signed in conjunction with a series of winter precautionary advisories released by Victor H. Koenig, director of the Granite City Emergency Services and Disaster Agency.

In proclaiming this week as storm preparedness week, Mayor Schuler stated:

"Whereas, winter storms produce more total damage in Illinois than any other form of severe weather; and

"Whereas, in the past five winters, Illinois has experienced 61 severe storms leading to $4 billion in damages and 129 deaths; and

"Whereas, major winter storms strand large numbers of people and bring an interruption of medical, fire, police, mail, power and communications services as well as close schools and businesses resulting in lost revenues; and

"Whereas, the holiday season is a period of increased travel and high probability for severe winter weather; and

"Whereas, the Illinois Emergency Services and Disaster Agency, the Illinois Department of Energy and Natural Resources, the National Weather Service and numerous other state, federal and private agencies are attempting to inform and educate the public on protective measures that should be taken to prepare for the 1983-84 winter season; and

"Whereas, by taking reasonable precautions, the residents of Granite City can reduce the loss of life and property, plus decrease the adverse effects of winter on our energy resources and our economy;

"Therefore, I, Paul Schuler, Mayor of Granite City, proclaim Nov. 27-Dec. 3, 'Winter Storm Preparedness Week' in Granite City.

Koenig advises local residents to take time now to:

Ensure that battery-operated equipment is fully operational and purchase extra batteries for radios and flashlights if necessary.

Check your supply of heating fuel. Steps could be taken now to "top off" your tank if your home or business uses stored fuel.

Make sure that an adequate food supply is present. Canned and non-perishable goods are excellent.

Koenig said. If you have a camping cook stove, check to see that it's in working order and an adequate supply of fuel is on hand. It may come in handy, the director noted.

A well insulated home or business that is free of air leaks not only saves money in heating bills, but also helps to keep you warm longer in the event of a power failure.

Be careful when shoveling snow or pushing automobiles. Cold weather puts an extra strain on the heart. Overexertion in such weather is the cause of many unnecessary deaths.

When outside, wear several layers of light, loose fitting clothes to prevent perspiring and subsequent chilling. Also protect your head with a good hat or ski mask and your hands with a pair of quality gloves or mittens.

Have your vehicle winterized.

Check the battery, the heating ignition and exhaust systems and the windshield wiper blades. On a trip, it's a good idea to carry blankets or sleeping bags, flares, matches, candles, a first-aid kit, booster cables, extra wool socks, a flashlight and extra batteries, low chains or a heavy rope, an extra windshield scraper and high calorie, non-perishable food, such as candy bars or peanut butter alone. Take someone with you. You should also notify your situation and location.

Other information may be obtained by visiting the Granite City ESDA office at 2330 Madison Ave., Koenig said.

Travel on primary routes. Heavily traveled roads stay clearer longer.

You should, however, carry a current highway map with you to plot an alternate course if your primary route is closed.

Completely fill your gas tank before departing and try to keep it nearly full. A good rule of thumb to follow for extended trips is to keep filling the tank as it becomes one-half empty.

Should you become trapped in a vehicle during a blizzard—don't panic and stay in the vehicle. Walking in a blizzard can quickly bring disorientation. If you get lost in drifting and blowing snow your chances of survival are slim.

Use the heater sparingly, operating it about 10 minutes an hour, and take steps to ensure against carbon monoxide poisoning. Check to see the tail pipe is free of obstruction, like a snow bank, and slightly open a window on the downwind side while the heater is being used. Turn off the engine when you turn off the heater.

Exercise to maintain body heat by clapping hands and moving arms and legs vigorously. Turn on the dome light, if possible and, if you vehicle is equipped with a CB radio, tune it to Channel 9 and announce your situation and location.

Other information may be obtained by visiting the Granite City ESDA office at 2330 Madison Ave., Koenig said.

Man dies while driving vehicle

Mr. Howard F. Jenkins, 66, Ferguson, Mo., was found dead, slumped over in the front seat of his car, after his vehicle collided with a trash dumpster and a parked car in Venice.

A representative of Campbell Ambulance Service, which responded to the scene, said the man appeared to have had a heart attack.

A witness to the accident, Royce Boyd of Venice, was in the car with Mr. Jenkins prior to the accident. He said Mr. Jenkins let him out of the car in front of the Bi-Rite Store on Broadway, so that he could purchase some lottery tickets. Apparently Mr. Jenkins was turning around when he suffered the attack.

Boyd said Mr. Jenkins' car came across the divider into the eastbound lane of 417 Broadway, then across westbound traffic lanes into a parking lot. It was there that the vehicle hit the trash dumpster and the parked car.

The parked car belongs to David W. Hill, 223 Weber St., Venice. The damage to his car is unknown.

The Venice Fire Department and a Campbell Ambulance were called to the scene. Madison County Coroner Ed Werner pronounced Mr. Jenkins dead at 2:45 p.m.

Boyd said Mr. Jenkins had heart problems, but had not complained of any trouble the day of the accident.

CHARGE TRAFFIC VIOLATIONS

David Jack, 34, Garasche Homes, Madison, allegedly disobeyed a traffic control device at Third Street and Madison Avenue, at 10:30 p.m. Saturday and, when stopped by the police, officers alleged finding a bottle of wine in the vehicle.

He fled the auto when stopped, but was later arrested and charged with disobeying a traffic control device and illegal transportation and possession of an alcoholic beverage.

Followup to 'Chemical People'

On Nov. 2 and 9, the broadcast of two, hour-long PBS specials, "The Chemical People," began the largest, nationally-coordinated anti-drug campaign in history. Channel 9 investigated local reaction to the project on "The Chemical People: A Local View," to be telecast Wednesday, at 8 p.m.

Producer reporter Angela Davidson said, "We hope this follow-up special will demonstrate the effect 'The Chemical People' outreach effort has had on the community, as a tool to discover and prevent school-age drug problems."

More than 120 town hall meetings took place in St. Louis with close to 14,000 people in attendance in conjunction with the telecast of "The Chemical People." "The Chemical People: A Local View" will report on four of those meetings: St. Louis University High School, University City High School, East St. Louis Senior High School and Parkway West High School. The follow-up program will also look at the town hall meetings and interview members of those groups.

Several drug abuse and alcohol treatment programs will be examined, and their staff members and clients interviewed. Among the programs will be the Program of the Youth Center, a positive intervention and involvement program for youth who may be experiencing social, behavioral or school-related difficulties; Operation Snowball, a weekend program in Pinckneyville, Ill., in which local teenagers and professionals share information and examine feelings about alcohol-drug misuse and related life problems; the Palmer Drug Abuse Program, a program emphasizing parental involvement in teenagers' drug problems, and Community Commitment for Survival, a group under the leadership of Jean Hrebec, which provides a variety of services and information related to chemical dependency.

$75 million job training program for vets approved

President Reagan has signed legislation appropriating $75 million in support of a job training program to aid unemployed Vietnam Era and Korean Conflict veterans.

Congress authorized the funds this month to provide financial incentives to employers to hire and train veterans. Congress is considering an additional $75 million in funding for the first year of the two-year program.

"This is a major undertaking and it underscores the nation's special commitment to those who have served in the military," Administrator of Veterans Affairs Harry N. Walters said.

The Joint Labor Department-Veterans Administration effort will be administered by the VA. The program will fund 50 percent of the starting hourly wages up to $10,000 for veterans to provide a maximum of 15 months of training for certain veterans with service-connected disabilities, and up to nine months for other participants. It also will allow employers to enter into agreements with educational institutions to provide vocational instruction.

To be eligible for participation in the program a veteran must have been unemployed for at least 15 of the 20 weeks immediately preceding the date of his or her application. Eligible veterans will be furnished certificates of eligibility by the VA to be presented to employers offering job-training programs that meet specified requirements. These certificates will be good for a period of 60 days and may be renewed. Applicants may be obtained from any VA regional office or local State Employment Job Service office.

Employers wishing to take part in the program are being urged to contact the local VA or Job Service office. Approval of training programs will be made by the VA.

Assistance under the program is prohibited for those veterans receiving education or training benefits for the same period under the GI Bill or the Post Vietnam Educational Assistance Program. Also barred from participating are employers receiving assistance from a veteran under the Labor Department's Job Training Partnership Act or a credit under the Targeted Jobs Tax Credit Program.

ARREST FOUR YOUNG MEN, THREE ON CURFEW COUNTS

Ricky W. Vernoy, 18, of 2038 Benton St. was arrested in a vehicle last week at 20th and Benton streets on a warrant alleging failure to appear on a charge of not having a valid registration.

Due to the early morning hour, a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor was added when a 16-year-old Madison youth was found in the auto.

The youth also was charged with a curfew violation along with two others in the vehicle, Robert Lee Griffin, 17, of 1327 Grand Ave., Madison, and Ronald A. Rowan, 17, of 1938 Benton St.

In a court appearance, Vernoy pleaded guilty to the contributing charge and was fined $135. The warrant was cancelled. The others were released on notices to appear for hearings.

State party backs Rock over Simon

Illinois mine workers and the Illinois Public Action Council endorsed Cong. Paul Simon during the weekend for the Democratic U.S. Senate nomination but the Illinois Democratic Central Committee on Monday decided to back Ill. Senate Pres. Philip J. Rock for the U.S. Senate post.

Rock professed to see deep statewide support for his candidacy and called the endorsement "significant."

Simon will run without the endorsement, as will Alex Seith, a previous senatorial nominee, and State Comptroller Roland Burris. There were 14 committee votes for Rock, five for Simon and three for Burris.

Rock, of Oak Park, said he would have withdrawn from the race if not endorsed. He heads the state party committee and predicted that its endorsement will result in victory for him in the March 20 primary. But Simon has led preferential polls and Burris also scores higher than Rock in various polls.

James D. Holloway, state central committeeman from Simon's 22nd Congressional District, supported Sen. Rock.

Bruce Cook of Belleville, the local district's state committeeman, backed Cong. Simon and said the party panel seems "bent on self-destruction." He said Rock runs last in surveys pairing potential Democratic candidates with each other and with the incumbent U.S. Senator, Charles H. Percy, a Republican.

Simon told the committee, "Every poll has shown me to be the strongest candidate. In my opinion, a party that does not put forth its strongest candidate undermines its own credibility."

He formerly represented the Granite City-Madison-Venice area in the state legislature, and is a former lieutenant governor of Illinois.

Simon commented to committee members, "Some of you have explained to me you are not free agents, that you have certain obligations. I will welcome your support in April" (after winning the primary). Seith dropped his request for support prior to Monday's vote and called for an open primary.

Ray Muir, 39, of 2919 Denver St. was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center for treatment of injuries sustained at 12:30 a.m. Thursday at the State Street curve near 15th Street.

The driver, Richard Harrod, 25, Florissant, swerved to avoid a south-bound pickup truck that was weaving from lane to lane.

Utility tax issue on county ballot

When the 1984 primary election is held in Madison County March 20, ballots will include a non-binding Taxpayer Relief Act proposal seeking to cut the state utility tax in half.

At the suggestion of County Board Member Harold Byers, a Highland Democrat and former state representative, the board last week voted to submit the issue to voters. The Act itself is not a law but a proposal awaiting legislative consideration.

The utility tax at present is an additional charge of five percent of one's gas, electric and telephone bills, Byers said. This is added to consumer utility bills, with the receipts going to the state treasury.

Proponents of the relief proposal say the existing procedure is unfair "because it taxes necessities like heat. It goes up as utility rates rise, making the state a partner with utilities" in raising consumers' pocketbooks for ever-increasing amounts of money as inflation occurs.

The proponents speculate that, if the tax dropped to 2½ percent, big companies could be forced to make up the funds lost to the state.

The legislation was developed by the Coalition for Political Honesty. Patrick Quinn of the Coalition says $300 million in tax relief could be achieved by "closing three loopholes."

He wants the state to end its conformity with the federal government on accelerated depreciation of corporate investments. He opposes a state ban on unitary taxation of multinational firms, and he is against an investment tax credit which he says obligates local-level governments to pay for the first half of one percent of corporate investments.

Efforts are being made to get the utility tax proposal on ballots statewide. Quinn thinks that, if voters made their wishes known, legislators would be "duty bound" to cut the tax.
